Lard remains an attraction to the bulge seller.

Cotton remains a great guess as to acreage. A large crop is impossible. Later excitement should be in brew Lengthy dips in cotton are not indicated. Condition may rise to 78 on June 25. The United States is suffer ing under tariff restraints and a desperate attempt by railroads to cut expenses 5 to 10 per cent for all time. Railroad economic attitude mulish, yet necessary. Our enormous crops may start business upward in the fall, but otherwise the mood is sullen and capital is seeking "safety outlets." Bulges in the grains should not be overstayed,
